

BEVERLY BAKER MAKES NYC DEBUT IN ONE-WOMAN SHOW, 'HAG'

The one-night-only engagement takes the stage on July 10, 2024

New York, NY (May 28, 2024) — After over a decade of stage and theater performances across the U.S., Beverly Baker will make her New York stage debut with her new one-woman show, HAG. The limited one-night-only production will show at The Green Room 42 (570 10th Avenue) on Wednesday, July 10th. Tickets are available via The Green 42.

In this career-spanning, personally-inspired show, Baker will bring to life a series of characters to expose and humanize an archetype that is woven into centuries of folklore and generations of storytelling.

“Throughout my career, there have been many voices telling me the types of characters I’m perfect for - ranging from comedy to drama, big belter to operatic soprano, blue collar, white collar and everything in between. But nearly every one ended the list with... ‘or you would be a perfect hag,’” said Baker, “It’s always there, so I decided to lean into that archetype and explore the many variations of ‘hag’ that show up throughout history, folklore, fairytale, ancient legend, cinema, theater and beyond.”

Her creation of the show was propelled forward by a cultural urgency to amplify women’s voices in the wake of current events. “As an artist, I sometimes feel helpless in these larger conversations. But every time I step into a theater, I take back some power. It struck me that we often write these women off as old and crazy or annoying or bothersome, but the reality is - and perhaps the reason we do - is because the hag has sparked fear in the patriarchy, the culture, the minds of people in charge. So we ignore her, we ostracize her, we bully her to assuage that fear. Anything to silence her,” said Baker, “This show aims to give her back her voice.”

HAG is rooted in cabaret with a singular tone and range of characters. “I don’t want to give too much away, but let’s just say this is not your grandmother’s cabaret,” said Baker, “And I have a feeling the audience will see the hag in ways they never have before.”

The creative team behind HAG includes Kyle Branzel (Music Director), Hannah Bakke (Composer), Brenna Colvin (Costume Designer), Jose Chavarria (Hair) and Vadee Chhun (Make-Up).

HAG is produced by The Green Room 42 in partnership with Artifex in Motion, Baker’s performance production company that aims to challenge its audiences and start conversations that otherwise go unspoken through its live theater, performance and film projects.
